Living Word Class – Jim O'Neal Classroom

Open to college students and adults of any age, this class gives participants an opportunity to read through Bible passages together and hear a simple, straightforward explanation of what the passage means, including time to ask questions, share and discuss with each other. The Living Word Class is a good choice for 1) people who may not come from a church background but desire to learn more about the Bible, 2) new Christians, and 3) those to whom English is a second language. Everyone is welcome, no Bible-study background is required, and there is no dress code, other than reasonable modesty and appropriateness. This class is a great opportunity to interact with people of different backgrounds and experience and make new friends as we study God's Word together.
